

Problem 2 – File Recursion

For this problem I have implemented recursion, since we do not have any prior information about the structure of the folder. This way, we need to traverse through entire directory – this task takes linear amount of elementary operations - $O(n)$. For space complexity, since we are “stacking” recursive calls it makes space usage of $O(n)$ too.